SPAIN.

MADRID, Sept., 15.—Evening.—Two Spanish iron-clad frigates have been ordered by the Government to proceed to Cuba with troops. Three thousand men have already sailed for the island, and seven thousand more will leave Spain for the same destination during the present week.

LONDON, September 15.—It is known here to-day that Major General Sickles, United States Minister at Madrid, transmitted to the Spanish Cabinet an official note protesting, in behalf of the American people and the Government of the United States, against the outrages recently committed on American citizens in Cuba, insinuating at the same time to the Minister that belligerent rights would soon be accorded to the Cubans by the government in Washington should Spain persist in her barbarities in the island, and in her refusal of the terms of a compromise with the people. The members of the opposition to the Serrano government assailed the Sickles dispatch with the object of embarrassing the Regency, as well as to prevent, if possible, any arrangements with the Executive in Washington.

Telegrams from Spain, addressed to and en route for the New York Herald, relative to Cuban affairs, were stopped at Madrid on Monday, 13th inst., by order of the Government.

A statement which has been pretty extensively circulated here, to the effect that England, France and Austria will coalesce, with the intention of sustaining the rights of Spain in Cuba, is denied.

General Prim has telegraphed to the Government from Paris to use all dilligence in sending troops to Cuba.

LONDON, September 16.—The Times has an editorial to-day on the Sickles note to the Spanish Government on the Cuban question, wherein it says: It was generally believed that President Grant would not interfere or allow interference in the Cuban question until Congress could vote upon it. Is he less resolute than formerly, or has a pressure forced him to sanction the demands upon Spain for the abandonment of Cuba, There is no doubt that the alternative offered Spain is the abandonment of the Island or American recognition of the insurgents. The probabilities are that we are on the eve of serious events. The struggle will be hopeless, so far as Spain is concerned. But the Government cannot resist the impulses of the people. The flame of Spanish pride is fast kindling, and the Government in striving to check it will be extinguished. From the most tranquil provinces of Spain come offers of men and arms, in order that the regular troops may go to Cuba. The aggressive policy of the United States cannot be justified by the attitude of Spain toward Cuba. It is not a question of slavery, for the abolition of slavery has already been decided upon. It is not a determination of Spain to resist the demands of Cuba, for negotiations have been opened to allow the severance of the Island. Setting aside the question whether the means to set Cuba free are fair to Spain, it is doubtful if a war of races might not ensue. If the insurrection is not exntinguished before the cession of the Island under the present critical circumstances, the Cortes, on reassembling will have to turn their whole thoughts and attention to the difficulties and dangers of Cuba.

MADRID, Sept. 16.—The difficulty with the United States on account of Cuba is in a fair way of settlement.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—In the Episcopal Diocesean Convention this morning the Committee on Legislation, to whom was referred the revision of canon 20, unanimously recommend the adoption of the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, An Ecclesiastical Court was recently organized in this diocese under the law of the church in pursuance of the provisions of canon 20 of the diocese for the trial of a presbyter presented for trial; and whereas, the proceedings of said Court were enjoined by Civil Court, and the Convention having duly considered the official acts of the Bishop, and the proceedings, orderings and decisions, as published, of the said Ecclesiastical Court, in said case, and also the published opinion of the Hon. Murray Hoffman, respecting the proceedings in such case, do resolve as follows:

First—That the acts and proceedings of the Bishop in said case were in accordance with the law and usage of this church.

Second—That said Ecclesiastical Court was lawfully and properly organised under said canon XX, and all its rulings and decisions were substantially correct and were in accordance with the usages, rules and canons of this Church, and as we believe were wrongfully interfered with by the civil count.

The report of the Committee was debated at length, and after attempts to refer it to various committees, the Rev. Dr. Rylance offered the following substitute:

Resolved, That this Convention, having no doubt as to the meaning and provision, of certain canons called in question in the case of a clergyman in this diocese, refuses to take any action in the matter, lest it shold seem open to the imputation, in the popular mind, that they thus sought to prejudice the course of the proceedings now pending. This Convention claims the right to interpret its own canons at any time when it may seem expedient to do so; but simply deems it inexpedient to do so at this juncture, lest their action should seem to be called forth by motives of which its members would not even be suspected.

WHEREAS, canon twenty having been variously constructed, this Convention declare that the meaning of the portions in dispute is as follows:

First—Section two of canon twenty, of the diocese of Illinois, is mandatory, not restrictive in its force, and does not exclude the Bishop from instituting an inquiry into the conduct of any minister, whenever he shall think it necessary to do so.

Second—Section two of said canon does not provide for or allow any challenge of members of the Court, save in so far as the right to select from the right presbytery named by the Bishop, may be of the nature of a challenge.

Third—Section eight of the said canon, does not provide for another citation than that mentioned in section four, but is designed to secure to the accused at least twenty days to prepare for trial, by ensuring to him that period of time over and above the time required to travel to the place of trial.

After a long debate, participated in by the Bishop, Rev. Drs. Pierce, Ryland and others, the substitute of Dr. Pierce was adopted with but four dissenting votes.

The Chicago Presbytery have voted on the overture from the General Assembly as follows: Against reunion of the two branches of the church, 4; for reunion, 33.

It was received at the depot by Nevins & Dean's brass band, who preceded the cortege of Union State Express wagons through the principal streets.

So far no operations have been commenced on that portion lying between Canonsburg and Washington Some few releases have not yet been obtained, but we believe the principal trouble lies in determining the route from Ewing's mill to this place. It is hoped, however, that matters will be satisfactorily arranged within a conple of weeks."

A small transaction of a professional "informer" and his Aldermanic colleague, which has just come to light, pertinently illustrates the method by which these gentlemen (?) manage to make the business profitable. It sometimes, however, results differently, and is likely to do so in the present case before it is finished.

In the latter part of May last J. Dierstein, a saloon keeper, having an establishment on Spring Garden avenue, Seventh ward, Allegheny, was brought before a Pittsburgh Alderman on the information of a "professional," for selling liquor on Sunday. The prosecutor duly testified and the case was decided against the defendant, and he was mulcted in the sum of fifty dollars and costs, amounting in all to $58,15. According to law half this fine, twenty-five dollars, should be paid to the Directors of the Poor of Allegheny for the Poor Fund. It didn't go, however, in that direction. Other uses were had for it, it seems, according to the following, which is a copy of the original receipt given in the case by the prosecutor, and drawn up by the Alderman:

"Received from J. Dierstein the sum of fifty-eight dollars and fifteen cents for debt and costs of an execution issued from —— docket, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and Guardians of the Poor of Allegheny city, as for —— informant, issued to —— Constable June 9, 1865.

——— ——— ——— Constable."

Pittsburgh, June 12, 1869.

There is a little discrepancy of dates here, showing a slight difference of four years. This might have been done as a blind to cover up subsequent actions, or it might have been a slip of the pen. The case is a little doubtful.

The next trial to which the unfortunate victim was subjected was a criminal suit for the same offense, brought by the same prosecutor, which resulted in his commitment to jail for ten days, and an additioaal fine of fifty dollars and costs imposed by the Court. Mr. Dierstein went to jail on the first of August, and when released, commenced an investigation of the proceeding. In the progress of this work he called at the office of the Directors of the Poor, Allegheny City, with the receipt as given above, when he learned that the money due the Board had never been paid over. The Secretary testified to this by writing on the receipt:

M. McGONNIGLE, Sec'y. to the"
Board of Directors of the Poor.
September 16, 1869.

An interval of three months having elapsed since the money has been paid to the Alderman and the informer, the charitable supposition that they had been pressed for time is deprived of its weight. Such is the history of a transaction which is only one of the many instances of the fraudulent character of this nefarious business. It is, however, not likely that this case will be allowed to rest here. Mr. Deirstein avers his determination to have the affair thoroughly sifted and the criminals exposed. For that reason we have refrained from giving any names until further progress is made.

An Endorsers Troubles.

Robert Franklin brought information before Alderman Shore against Henry Slagle for false pretense. The trouble arises out of some endorsements. Franklin alleges he was induced to endorse two notes, amounting in the aggregate to $700, for Slagle, who carried on the tinning business and who represented he could easily extend his business, so as to pay the notes and make a handsome profit besides. After thus securing the money, according to Franklin's statement, Slagle bought material, but rapidly turned it into cash again, allowed one of the notes to go to protest, and was about clearing out for Kansas, when information was made against him. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

New Goods and Great Bargains at the Popular Corner Dry Goods Store.

Our worthy and enterprising friend, Mr. Richard Deaker, proprietor of the popular Corner Dry Goods Store, Fifth avenue and Grant street, has just opened one of the finest stocks of general fall and winter goods that he has ever brought to the city, and this is saying a great deal in its favor. It has been selected with great carefulness and with the sole view of pleasing the custom directed towards this old established house. It embraces everything in the line of dress goods, and has been purchased at such reasonable prices that Mr. Deaker proposes to sell at nearly fifty per cent. less in prices than what prevailed last season. We earnestly urge our readers to favor Mr. Deaker with a purchasing visit, as we feel assured that his elegant new stock at specially reduced prices will please all who call.

THE Pennsylvania Railroad shops at Altoona are closed on Saturday afternoon, in consequence of a depression in business, the company adopting this plan to avoid the necessity of reducing the force of employes.

THE Warren Mail says the oldest inhabitant has hardly seen such a rain and flood as they had in that county last week, and that if it "wasn't the equinoctial storm it might as well have been, for it answered all the purposes of the biggest equinoctial."

THE monument erected in Norristown, in memory of the soldiers and sailors of Montgomery county who fell in defence of their country, was dedicated on Friday, Joshua T. Owen delivering the oration. It contains the names of nearly six hundred soldiers.

MRS. SHERWOOD, wife of L. H. Sherwood, widely known in Crawford and adjoining counties in connection with the hospitalities dispensed at the old Sherwood House for many years, died at Meadville on Monday last, after a long and painful illness.

A SPAN of horses belonging to Mr. E. M. Tower, of Rome, Bradford county, came near dying on Saturday night last, from the effects of eating locust tree bark, and were only saved by administering an antidote soon after. People should be careful not to hitch horses where they can reach a locust tree.

AT Wilkesbarre, on Tuesday, Bishop Lee, of Delaware, assisted by Doctor E. N. Potter, united in marriage Bishop Stevens and Miss Anna, daughter of Hon. John N. Conyngham, of that place. The ceremonies, notwithstanding the high position of the parties, were celebrated with the greatest simplicity. A reception was given at the home of Judge Conyngham the evening previous.

ON Thursday, August 27th, an interesting re-union occurred at the old homestead of Stephen Tucker, in Jackson, Susquehanna county, comprising the "united head," now respectively seventy-five and seventy-six years of age, three sons with their wives, three daughters with their husbands, and their oldest daughter, a widow, with her son, and grandchildren and great-grandchildren—in all numbering sixty.

COL. JAMES J. SEIBERT, beaten with a black-jack by some unknown person, in Philadelphia, on Sunday night last, died on Tuesday morning. He entered the army as Lieutenant Colonel of the 6th Regiment Pennsylvania Voluntears, three months' men, afterwards as Major of the 7th Cavalry, and was subsequently promoted to the Lieutenant Colonelcy. At the close of the war he resumed his profession as a lawyer. One Philip Grenigan has been arrested for complicity in the murder.

THE Pennsylvania Railroad Company have placed upon their road another of Woodruff's silver palace sleeping cars. It will accommodate forty-six persons with seats, which at night can be transformed into luxurious couches for thirty. A noticeable feature is a lamp inserted in a niche at the side of the car, between each row of seats, which provides an agreeable light for reading or writing while en route. This lamp is concealed by a small mirror during the day, and is revealed by touching a spring at the side.

LAST WEEK Lewis Holsner was tried in the Cambria county court of Oyer and Terminer, at Ebensburg, Judge Taylor presiding, for the murder of Philip Phalon, the jury finding him guilty of murder in the second degree. The homicide occurred on the 20th of July last, at the saw mill of Fry, Deurr & Co., where a number of employes had assembled for the purpose of destroying waste lumber. Whisky was drank to excess, a quarrel ensued, and Phalon was killed, receiving seven wounds on different parts of his body, inflicted with a knife in the hands of Holsner.

THE West Chester Record tells this fish story: "Four young men of Newark went a fishing with outlines in Mercer & Howard's dam. They caught seventy-seven eels, thirteen of which weighed forty pounds, and a bushel and a half of catfish and sailfish. Pierce Rodeback, of Marshallton, on the same day, went a fishing in the Brandywine, with a common scoop net, taking two boys to carry the game. He brought home twenty-nine pounds of fish—many of them quite large, and gave away at the creek five dozen, which made the load too heavy for the boys to carry."

ON SUNDAY last a boy fell from a tree on the Neck, in Philadelphia, and his comrades picking him up in an insensible condition, were conveying him towards his home, when a policeman mixed himself up in the case, and, leading the boy to the door of his home, told his mother he was drunk, judging this to be his condition from the fact that he staggered. The mother became infuriated at the idea of her boy being intoxicated, and whipped him severely. In a few hours the boy died, when it was discovered that the cause of his staggering was from a fracture of the skull occasioned by the fall from the tree.

IN Altoona, Monday last, says the Tribune, a boy five years of age, son of Mrs. Sarah Rogers, who had been playing about the yard of the house, manifested evidence of sickness of the stomach, with frequent indications of strangulation, exciting the mother's fears that something serious was about to transpire. After great exertion the boy threw up, to all intents and purposes, an actual living rat, which, so far as the mother could tell, might have been swallowed by him. From appearances the rat was not more than three or four days old, as it was entirely hairless, and only about an inch and a half in length; but it was alive and kicking.

Tom Thumb, opposite the residence of his father-in-law, in that part of Middeboro, Mass., called Warrenton, was taken from its foundation during the gale of the 8th inst., and scattered piecemeal around the fields.

NEW ORLEANS relates a case of absent-mindedness. A gentleman writing a letter at his breakfast table dipped his pen in the coffee and continued writing his letter. Noticing his mistake he put a large lump of sugar in the ink, and then, finding his second blunder, poured the contents of the inkstand into the coffee cup to set it right.

THE last freak of nature is in the possession of Adam Abbott, of Troy, Vt. It consists of four kittens, all perfectly formed and all joined together, two black and two white. As joined, three are headed one way, while the other will be compelled to walk backward at least three-fourths of the time. At last accounts all were alive.

WHEN in Aberdeen, Dr. Johnson dined with a clergyman, the soup being "hotch-potch." The lady of the house, after having served him once, asked him if he would take some more. The gruff and stern moralist and outspoken social bear replied, "It is a dish fit for hogs, madam." "Take a little more, then," was the immediate and appropriate reply.

THE warehouse of Mr. Briggs Swift, in Cincinnati, was robbed on Tuesday night of $1,860 in cash and $170,000 in notes, taken from a safe, opened by means of duplicate keys, obtained, it is thought, from a bureau in the residence of Mr. S., in the absence of the family. The thieves overlooked in their haste a box containing $10,000 in Government bonds.

THE recent disposition of a $10,000 life insurance in California depended on the exact length of time that it would take a man to starve to death, the subject in this case having been found dead in the woods five days after disappearing and one day after the expiration of the policy. The jury decided that the man died soon enough to save the insurance to his widow.

AT San Francisco, a few days since, a large ox was being driven by a windlass to the ring in a slaughter house, where Jean Mathea stood ready to knock him down. The ox struggled fearfully and finally broke the rope, and as soon as he could recover his balance he made a lunge at the butcher, pinning him through the heart to the wall, and killing him instantly.

EMIGRANTS are settling upon the public lands in Minnesota at the immense rate of fifty thousand per annum, and the number is largely increasing. Governor Ramsey recommends that the annual fund for surveys in that district be increased, as the limits of the tract which each settler is allowed to enter under the United States laws cannot be known until the Government surveys are extended over the same.

MR. JOHN GRUMBINE, a farmer, of Frederic county, Md., has brought suit against the corporation of Washington City, claiming $10,000 for false arrest and $100 for the loss of goods. He went to that city with a quantity of veal, intending to sell it by the quarter, but was arrested for violating market regulations and confined in the station house over night, and the next morning his meat was confiscated.

A VERY poor family passed through Wytheville, Tennessee, one day last week and encamped in an old field near the town. During the night, with no shelter from the rain, which was falling in torrents, the mother gave birth to four children. The Bristol News, in giving the item, says that the husband was too lazy to even carry straw from a neighboring stock yard to make the woman a rude bed.

AN interesting discovery has been made by Mr. Wynne in preparing the catalogue of the Hengwrt manuscript, in the Peniarth Library, in Wales. He found a quarto volume entitled "Legendary Lives of Saints," written, not in Welsh, but in Cornish. It proves to be a most important addition to the scanty remains of ancient Cornish literature. No mention is made by any Cornish writer that such a work had ever existed.

CHARLES B. CONKLIN, the messenger of the Merchants' Union Express Company, who was some time since found bound and gagged in a car, from which $800,000, that was in his possession as agent of the Company, had been stolen, was arrested several days ago and detained at the house of a deputy sheriff in New York. On Tuesday he was taken from his confinement on a writ of habeas corpus, and subsequently discharged.

AN INVESTIGATION into the cause of the recent accident on the Central Ohio Railroad, near Cambridge, resulted in the Coroner's jury condemning John Knight, the engineer, and Samuel Gregg, the conductor of the passenger train. The Deputy Sheriff of Guernsey county, having been provided with warrants, proceeded to Zanesville to arrest Knight and Gregg, but whilst there got drunk, and "retired," the parties he came for in the meantime leaving the town. It is stated, however, that the accused deny their guilt and will appear in due season to answer the charge against them, that of manslaughter.

THE city of Milwaukee is putting down a kind of pavement which is described as follows: "The old pavement having been removed, the earth is cut to the requisite depth to secure the proper grade for the surface. After the ground work is thus prepared it is covered with common inch pine boards. Upon the foundation Norway pine plank, two by six inches, are laid edge up and spiked together. The plank, being green, are readily sprung to the internal curve of the roadway and then spiked. The pavement, when completed, will be covered with fine gravel, which will fill any remaining crevices in the surface."

A TERRIBLE MURDER was committed in Cincinnati, Tuesday morning, about three o'clock. John M. Kreutz, a dealer in smoked beef, arose early to prepare for going to market, partially dressing himself. His wife was awake, and soon after he went out heard a pistol shot. After a short time she began to wonder he did not return to complete his dressing, and recollecting the report of the pistol, became alarmed. She hastily arose, dressed, and started to the adjoining alley, towards her husband's stable. She observed in the dim light, a prostrate form in the gutter, and going quietly to it, discovered it was that of her husband, cold in death. One side of his head, from the right eye upwards, was blown away, and the brains scattered about in all directions. His pocket book apparently rifled, was found about fifteen feet distant, and a single barreled pistol lay close by the side of the corpse. Immediately after the firing of the pistol a man was observed running from the locality.

THE rain storms last week were fearfully destructive in Greene county, surpassing, says the Waynesburg Messenger, anything of the kind ever before experienced in that region. On Friday night the rain fell in torrents for some hours, and the destruction of crops, &c., by the resulting flood was enormous. Thousands upon thousands of wheat and rye, that had been cut and shocked up on the bottom lands, were carried off and passed down Ten mile creek to lodge on trees and fences and fields miles below. Some farmers lost as high as three and four hundred dozens of grain, and others all that they had. Corn fields along the creek and big runs were leveled and covered with mud, brush and logs. The same can be said of oats and grass fields. Many fences were taken away, and the destruction to bridges and mill dams very great. On Sabbath afternoon another very heavy rain caused great devastation in regions that had escaped the storm of Friday night. The large stone dam at what was known as "Lantz's distillery," about one and a fourth miles below Waynesburg, was swept away. All the dams on the same stream—Laurel Run—were carried off, while many of the grass and grain fields were destroyed or greatly damaged. On Bates' fork of Ten Mile, the destruction of property was perhaps greater than any place else. The damage done the Ruff's creek valley was also very great.

The Waist of the Period.

The London Lancet says:

"Our old friend tight-lacing has again made his appearance. Beaten back for a time, probably more by fashion than by the spread of knowledge, he has not been killed, but has only recoiled apparently for a better spring, for his victims are as numerous and pitiable as ever. The folly is one which was formerly to be found mainly in the drawing-room, but now it also fills our streets. It is lamentable to observe at every turn a woman, young or old, who moves forward in a stooping position, unable even to hold herself upright in consequence of the restraint upon the muscles of the back. If the evils of tight lacing were confined to the distorted appearance which it never fails to produce, we might regret indeed to see the female form divine so defaced, but it would scarcely be in our province to comment upon it. But, as medical practitioners, we see its effects every day in the train of nervous and dyspeptic symptoms by which it is constantly indicated, and in the still more grave and internal mischief of permanent character which is often caused by it. Until some little physiological knowledge is made a part of female education, and is considered an 'accomplishment,' we suppose it is of little use to protest against the cruel injury to health which women thus inflict upon themselves. The matter is one that is 'worse than crime—it is folly,' for beauty is destroyed by the process which is intended to increase it."

DR. WHITTIER CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails. A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success. It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice. The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints. The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A.M. to 8 P.M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P.M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PETROLEUM MARKET.

There was a regular old fashioned flurry in the oil market to-day, the excitement being greater than during any preceding day for several months. Compared with yesterday, prices have still further advanced with a large volume of business in the aggregate, and the feeling upon the whole was decidedly "bullish;" late advices both from the east and Europe would indicate a material reduction in stocks, with a sharp demand for export, and holders generally are strong and appear very sanguine of still better figures. Private advices from Europe, considered perfectly reliable, state that the expeditions, recently, have been unusually large, and as a consequence, stocks at most of the leading foreign ports are very much reduced, and it is also alleged that the amount of oil afloat is comparatively light; in confirmation of this the still further advance at Antwerp, quoted to day at 57, is significantly pointed at, and it must be conceded, whether these statements are exaggerated or not, the market is much stronger in feeling than it has been for some time. On the other hand, it is asserted that the present flurry will result in most if not all of the refining establishments resuming forthwith, and in that case, a large increase in the shipments will follow. Indeed, it was asserted that a large proportion of the crude sold to-day was bought by refiners with that object in view; they expect refined to still further advance, and that crude bought now will enable them in the future to sell at a profit.

J. B. HARRIS

Safety Fire Jacket, Car Heater and MODERATOR.

For Smoke and Hot Air Flues, dispensing with the use of stoves and fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached. Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket, which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended.

It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto, I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c. Wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired, I will send on application right to manufacture or use the above invention. Also Territorial rights to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges either by State or county.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily with four feet two inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. Weather clear and pleasant—mercury at 4 P. M. 82 in shade.

There has been no arrivals since the date of our last roport. The Kenton from Cincinnati was due last night, and will be found in port this morning. The St. Marys from Cincinnati is due today, and will return to-morrow.

The Wild Duck succeeded in getting her barge over Deadman on Wednesday afternoon. She was aided very materially by the towboat Storm, and it is said that it was as much as both of them couid do to pull it off, even after some 200 tons of freight had been taken off.

The Maggie Hays, Capt. B. C. Martin, is filling up steadily for St. Louis, and will be the first boat out for that port.

The Kenton, in command of Commodore Kerr, has resumed her place in the Pittsburgh and Portsmouth packet trade, and will leave to-day at 4 P. M.

Capt. Ackley and Dan Moore went up to Elizabeth yesterday to look after the hull of their new boat.

—The Local Inspectors at St. Louis, on Monday, suspended the license of E. R. Kellogg, pilot, sixty days, for causing the collision of steamers Belle of Pike and Sucker State.

—Capt. Wm. Ashford and others purchased the Commercial at Memphis last Friday for $9,000. She will enter the White river trade, and be commanded by Capt. Ashford.

—The dam of the Parkersburg bridge, which broke loose last week, was successfully landed at Ludlow, Ky., by the towboat Hawkeye. A big job well done. Capt. James Hobson commanded the Hawkeye.

—An Omaha telgram, under date of Tuesday, says: The steam boat Alabama, arrived at Sioux City to-day, from Milk river, where she left a load of Fort Benten freight, with men to guard it until a train arrived from above. The steamer Barker is expected there tomorrow.

—The St. Marys left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Tuesday and will leave here again on Saturday. Capt. W. McIntosh formerly of the Chevoit, in the Pittsburgh & Zanesville trade, some 15 years since, together with his wife and father, was a passenger on this boat on her recent down trip.

—The contract for building the levees in Boliver, Washington and Issequena counties, Miss., has been awarded to Capt. W. M. Williams and Martin Keary, of Vicksburg. The work comprises 1,500,000 cubic yards of earth, and the capital required for the undertaking will approximate $1,000,000.

—St. Louis advices of Tuesday report as follows: River business very brisk to the south. It is estimated that 20,000 tuns of freight will leave here this week for Memphis, Vicksburg, New Orleans and way points. Cicero Allery, formerly a well known steamboat clerk, but recently a merchant at Lake Providence, died suddenly at that place recently. He owned a plantation there, and was a partner of Capt. Frank Hicks.

—It will be remembered that the Australia, a new boat, left here in May last, for Magdalen River, in South America. In order to reach there it is necessary to make a sea voyage of over three thousand miles from New Orleans, and it would seem from the following, clipped from the New Orleans Times, that the boat never reached her destination, being to frail a craft for a Gulf voyage: The Australia left New Orleans May 15, and crossed the bar the next morning. In the Gulf of Mexico she encountered a severe squall, during which one of the boiler rivets came out. Key West was made on the 20th, and the little craft got aground and could not get off for six days, the citizens of Key West looking upon the crew as filisbusters, and not rendering them any assistance. Finally they were aided by a friendly "high tide," and reached Nassau June 8, where they created considerable commotion—almost as great a hubbub as the Great Eastern on her experimental voyage. After undergoing thorough repairs the Australia again went to sea on the 2d of July, and encountered very rough weather, which reduced the crew to the necessity of seeking an anchorage. Accordingly the frail boat made Kingston, Jamaica, where she was condemned by the inspectors, and sold for $2,575, the best thing that could be done with her, as all former experience tended to establish the fact that she never could reach her destination.

THE Chinese Mission awaits, it is said, the acceptance of ex Senator MORGAN, of New York.

VIRGINIA will elect no Senators until after her Constitution has the Congressional approval.

ON OUR seventh page to-day will be found the election proclamation of Sheriff Cluley, together with the new registry law in full.

THE EXPENSES of our Federal Government have been strikingly reduced during the fiscal year ending with June, 1869. Forty-five millions less in the War Department, five millions less in the Navy, seventeen millions less in the civil, domestic and foreign service, and ten millions less for interest. An increase of eight millions on the pension list will not be disagreeable to the people

While our outgoes are thus limited, the public revenue increases. From March to September, '69, the receipts of internal revenue taxes showed a gain of $8,357,307,25, over the same period of '68.

Here we can see why it is that the reduction of the public debt goes steadily on. Forty-nine millions have been paid off from March to September 1st, and the current month will add about eight millions more to this.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Unless you know that your name is on the list, go and have it placed there. Don't delay! Examine the list for the names of every Republican whom you know of in your precinct; if you find any omitted, see that the omission is supplied. Your Assessor has one list; another is posted up to public view at your usual place of voting. More than one of you will be surprised to find that his name is not there. Now is the time to make the correction. You will find difficulty in voting unless you are thus registered in time.

THE GREAT AMERICAN DODGER.

We take pleasure in doing justice to a political opponent. Here, for example, is the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. He should be credited with absolute consistency in his dodging. Never has he once violated the unities in this direction. Beginning, long ago, with dodging regular Democratic nominations and giving his vote to Know Nothing candidates, his ability and success as a political and financial dodger have been brilliantly illustrated by his subsequent career. He dodged DOUGLAS for BRECKENRIDGE, loyalty for secession, the cause of the Union for VALLANDIGHAM and treason: he dodged off to Europe when patriotism should have kept him at home: as a Congressman, he dodged publicity so well as never to open his mouth except to vote, and not then when he could avoid it: during the war, he dodged all the high responsibilities of his wealth and station: when the State was in peril at Gettysburg, he dodged with his own private purse safely behind the Lehigh Valley Railroad, putting that corporation forward to pay the expenses of its volunteering workmen. Since the war ended, he has been dodging the tax-gatherer, and his dodges have succeeded. Since February, 1868, this Artful Dodger has dodged out of the payment of his personal taxes, dodging from Mauch Chunk to Philadelphia and back again, until his juggling dodges cut down his payment from thirty-two thousand dollars to less than nine dollars per year! The history of the Commonwealth does not present a more brilliant record of consistent and successful dodging than this. By all means, Judge Packer should have the credit of being the representative Dodger of the Period! But he can't dodge the people in October!

WHY GET UP A PARTY ROW?

The Commercial, in the lack of any existing internecine war in the Republican ranks, seems determined to get up one on its own account. The recent visit of Gen. GRANT to the western end of the State, is seized upon, by it, as a fit occasion for showing its disorganizing tendencies; and although all the other Republican papers in the State can find enemies enough in the Democratic party to fight, just now, it can find no foeman worthy of its steel except within the Republican lines.

The election of a Republican Legislature, of a Republican Governor, and the success of the Republican cause generally, are nothing in its eyes so long as Mr. J. D. CAMERON exists undemolished by its prowess. He is the Mordecai sitting in the King's Gate, who stirs up all the bile in the breast of the Haman of that sheet, and for several days past it has been superlatively busy in putting up a high gallows for his execution.

The offence of Mr. CAMERON consists in the fact that, being a railroad President, he has shown to President GRANT the courtesy becoming a man in his position. This, and nothing more. To be sure, the Commercial attributes to him bad motives for this, and abuses him without stint, throwing all sorts of mud and filth at him for some wicked schemes he is supposed to have in view, which exist only in the imagination of the editor of that paper; but not a single fact has been or can be adduced to justify this abuse, beyond the single one of the courtesies properly shown by Mr. CAMERON to the President of the United States.

We submit to the Republicans of Western Pennsylvania, and particularly to those of Allegheny county, that there has been something too much of this. The President is abundantly able to take care of himself, and the concerns of the nation, and does not need to be upheld by any such attempt to create a party broil. The particular duty of the Republican party, at this crisis, is to re-elect Governor Geary and secure him the co-operation of a Republican Legislature. If the Commercial does not want to take a hand in that work, let it say so, and be classed as a Democratic sheet, if it chooses; but let it not pretend to be a Republican sheet while directing all its guns at the Republican lines.

We do not step in, here, to defend Mr. Cameron. He needs no defence. He has done nothing that any other man would not have done, under similar circumstances. He has treated the President with due courtesy and respect, as befitted him, and has been guilty of nothing else. If that is a crime in the judgment of our neighbor, the punishment it attempts to inflict is far more condemnatory of it than of him. What we object to is this effort on the part of a nominally Republican paper to breed a fight in the party ranks on the eve of an important election, and without the slightest justification for it, except the dreams conjured up by an addled imagination or a mind diseased.

We observe that our Republican exchanges are already noticing the extreme readiness of the Commercial to kick up a shindy in the party it nominally belongs to, instead of fighting the common foe. Their continued attention to its aberrations will do no harm.

THE SINKING FUND.

The Harrisburg Patriot, Mr. Packer's central organ, came out with a flaming article, not long since, charging the Republicans of this State with having squandered over twenty-three millions of the Sinking Fund since December 1st, 1860.

The figures in this article were very plausibly grouped, but so many essential figures were withheld that the conclusions drawn seemed too ridiculous for even a Democrat to believe; yet, as it is barely possible some of them may be misled, by this dishonest array of figures, we think it may be worth while to expose the deceit, especially as the exposure shows how low a Packer organ can go in trying to mislead the public.

The Patriot gives a detail, from the law, of the several items of revenue set apart by our statutes for the Sinking Fund, which is correct. It then proceeds to state what the annual receipts of this fund have been since December 1st, 1860, which is not correct. In the table below we give, in the first column, the receipts of the Sinking Fund as stated by the Patriot, and in the second the actual receipts of that fund, for each year, as obtained from the books of the State Treasury.

Year Ending Dec. 1.	Receipts as Stated by Patriot.	Receipts as obtained from State Treasurer's books.
1862	2 432,430.16	3 471,098.57
1863	2,501,181.13	2,864,018.25
1864	3.097 978 68	3.489,308.94
1865	4,251,965 76	3,922,175 90
1866	4,237,915.54	3,629,011.24
1867	5 024 232,01	3,869 315.51
1868	4,586 521.42	3,433.023 34
Total	27,906,227.58	26,819,474,52

It will thus be seen that while, in detail, the Patriot did not succeed in getting a single figure right, in the aggregate it was in error to the extent of only $1,086,753 06. This is probably as near as any paper of that class could come to telling the truth.

The State debt on the first day of December, 1860, was	$37 976,185.78
On Dec. 1, 1868, it was	33,289,946 13
Total debt paid off	4 689 239 65
Total receipts Sinking Fund	27 906,227.58
Total deficit in that fund	23 216,987.93

In other words, the Patriot would have its readers believe that the Republican State administrations since the election in 1860, have received over twenty-three millions towards the extinction of the Public Debt, which sum has not been applied to that purpose.

We have already shown an error of over a million in these figures. Let us now see the chicanery with which this deficit is manufactured.

The law creating the Sinking Fund provides that the money received into it shall be applied first, to the payment of the interest on the Public Debt, and second to the extinction of the debt itself.

The Patriot, in its calculation, leaves out of view, altogether, the interest paid on the public debt since December 1, 1860, amounting to an average of two millions yearly.

This would seem to be a deliberate falsification of the record on the part of that paper. With the Sinking Fund law before it, in making its quotations, it could not possibly have overlooked the provision made by it for the payment of the interest on the State debt.

But more; the State, in 1861, contracted a temporary war loan of $475,000, and afterwards a more permanent war loan of $3,000,000, thus adding that much to the debt. This important fact the Patriot also suppresses. We have thus the following slight corrections to make in the Patriot's figures:

Error in receipts into Sinking Fund	$ 1,086 758.06
" " interest paid, omitted by it	17,154,873.02
" " War debt, contracted since Dec. 1, 1860, and omitted by it	3,475,000.00
Mistake of the Patriot ONLY	$21,716,631.08

The true statement of the case is as follows:

Public debt December 1, 1860	$ 37,967,847 50
War debt contracted in 1861	3 475,000 00
Total	$ 41 442,847 50
Public debt December 1, 1868	33,286 946 13
Paid off since December 1, 1860	$ 8,155,901 37
Interest, &c., paid since that date	17 154 873 02
Total payments from sinking fund	$ 25 310 774 39
Total receipts, correctly stated	26,819 474 52
Balance in Sinking Fund Dec. 1, 1868	$ 1,508,700 13

This is the correct showing, as any one can ascertain by applying at the State Treasury, or Auditor General's office, and the attempt of Mr. Packer's central organ to create a belief by concealing the important figures in the case, and handling the others to suit, that twenty-three millions of the public funds have been squandered, is the baldest attempt at political fraud we have witnessed for a long period.

A WASHINGTON despatch makes a very interesting statement, thus:

Commissioner Delano has appointed a number of Assistant Assessors in the principal cities to secretly look over the returns of income with a view of ascertaining and correcting fraudulent returns made by private individuals.

WASHINGTON, PA.

President Grant and Family—Their Reception—The Procession—The Children of the Public School—The Appearance of the Town—Where the President Stops—Generous Rivalry, &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 15, 1869.

The coming of President Grant to our town to-day is an event worth recording. We feel proud to have him in our midst for a few days.

A telegram this morning from your city announced that the President would reach here by three o'clock, P. M. An impromptu meeting was held at the Court House, at which it was arranged that the Burgess and Town Council, together with a Committee of fourteen citizens, including the resident ministers, should do the honors of reception. It was also provided that all the scholars of the Public School should be put in position on Main street, in front of the Court House.

At two o'clock the Committee of Reception, in carriages, accompanied by many others—probably forty carriages in all—started to meet the coming President. About a mile and a half out of town they did so.

After being welcomed by Mr. Boyle, in a very happy little speech, the President took a seat with him in an open carriage, and followed by the procession, entered town. The street along which he was conducted was lined with eager and pleased spectators. Flags were floating in all directions, and the town wore quite a gala appearance. The President, as he passed along, bowed right and left.

When the carriage reached the place where the children were congregated—some seven or eight hundred of them—it stopped for a moment, and the President stood up that all might see him.

He passed on through town, escorted by those who had gone to meet him, to the residence of Mr. Wm. W. Smith, where he and his family are to have their home while they remain here, and a delightful home it is, too.

A committee of two, consisting of Maj. Ewing and Col. Hopkins, was charged with the duty of making some arrangement, if possible, with the President by which all of our citizens who may desire it can have the pleasure of a shake of his hand, and to show him their personal regards.

It is gratifying to state that political distinctions were lost sight of to-day—both parties showed equal respect to our noble Chief Magistrate. This is right. It augurs well. AMICUS.

JOHN DEAN, Chairman of the Republican Committee of Blair county, has announced meetings at Tyrone, Duncansville, Frankstown and eight other places. At Tyrone on October 8th, Gov Geary and Wm. D. Kelley are to speak. Other speakers are to be present at the other meetings.

MINOR TOPICS.

IN SPITE of the reiterated reports of failure by the various managers of opera troupes, there seems to be a fascination in the life which renders those who once come within its magic influence thenceforth totally indifferent to mere pecuniary losses or embarrassments. Maretzek, for instance, is in a constant state of complaint. Judging by his statements, he always loses money, but he invariably comes up smiling again at the beginning of a new round. This year there is to be an unusual number of travelling opera troupes, in spite of the long proclaimed fact that nothing but legs and tinsel will now draw an audience. On the 20th a new French troupe commences a season of legitimate French opera in New York. Maretzek is organizing a troupe with Miss Kellogg—who doesn't seem to be able to leave her native land as prima donna. Then most of the members of Grover's favorite German troupe have again united, and besides these the rival English opera troupes are in full blast. Out of all this musical melange, we shall have a fair share in Pittsburgh, and shall doubtless enjoy it as well as we always do.

ONE OF THE most popular English periodicals has, of late, been Dr. Guthrie's Sunday Magazine. This publication has been almost unique in its nature; that is, it has had a religious vein running through it. Evincing the very highest ability in its editors and contributors, it has been neither sectarian nor mawkish. The trouble with most of the so-called religious periodicals has been that they seem to be prepared for a class of readers to be found within the walls of asylums, for weak-minded persons. No one doubts that this is wholesome enough food for babes, but as we grow up we like to have something a little more of the nature of roast beef. The Sunday Magazine supplies the heartiest food. Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., the Philadelphia publishers, have made arrangements to issue an American edition of this magazine, which needs but to be known to be at once accepted as filling a void long felt in the ephemeral literature of the country.

PITTSBURGH is by nature and habit quite undemonstrative and reliable. President Grant has the same characteristics. On Tuesday they met fairly and squarely face to face, for the first time. The President, saving a slight flush or occasional smile, preserved his self-possession, but the city for once forgot reserve. Everything but the fact that the hero of Shiloh, of Vicksburg, the man who had led many Pittsburghers to final victory at Richmond, and who is now the people's President, was in the midst of us. Our old smoke-begrimed city couldn't stand that; people who pride themselves upon their stoicism forgot their pride, and the result was an ovation as spontaneous as it was hearty. They say General Grant was pleased, and he may well have been, for we doubt if he ever was met with a welcome which came more from the heart and less from policy and pockets.

PEOPLE say that, if we wait a little while, royalty and patrician rank in the old world will have ceased to be. In looking about us, it almost seems as if the time had come already. Formerly trades people were trades people and nobles were nobles, but now we find dukes, earls, barons and knights directing insurance and railway companies, presiding at banks, and in more than one instance keeping books in wholesale houses. Add to this the fact that Napoleon, Victoria, the Kings of Sweden and Saxony, and a host of lesser sovereigns, are authors by profession, and the King of Denmark depends for a large share of his income on the profits of a beet-sugar factory of which he is senior partner, and we think it is almost proved that the days have come when the lion and the lamb are to lie down together, and the commercial equality of man acknowledged.

WE HAVE just passed through what might be called a "real old-fashioned summer"—plenty of fruit, plenty of grain and immunity from disease. In most cases, where our harvests have been as plentiful as this year, we have had the drawback of an overpowering heat, accompanied by prevalent or epidemic diseases. But this year has been a model one; less sickness than usual is reported from all portions of the country. New York has escaped, with a few isolated cases, from the plague of cholera, which was feared. New Orleans has acknowleged but a single case of yellow-fever, and the country at large has been more than usually blessed with health. What with peace, plenty, health and Grant for President, we think we may congratulate ourselves and the world!

STATE POLITICS.

HON. G. W. SCHOFIELD is stumping in Erie county.

HON. DANIEL KALBFUS addressed a Republican meeting in Union Hall, Johnstown, on Saturday.

THE Bucks county (Pa.) Republicans have nominated for Assembly James Stinson and Hiram A. Williams.

DOES Asa Packer endorse Alderman M'Mullin's threats of club law and murder? The people would like to know.

JUDGE PACKER spent the war-summers among the rebel sympathizers in Europe—Geary among the rebels in the South.

HON ALEXANDER MONTGOMERY, nominated by the Democrats of Armstrong county for Assembly, refuses to accept a nomination from that party.

IN COUNTIES where the Republican party has control of the county, taxes have been reduced since the war, and in counties under Democratic management the same have been increased.

THE Republicans of Petroleum Centre have organized a club, with J. M. Dickey, Esq., as President. They have appointed a Vigilance Committee for the campaign, and are prepared to do their duty.

THE COURTS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

THURSDAY, Sept. 16.—The first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. John Jay and David Ludwig, indicted for felonious assault and battery. The defendants, it is alleged, shot at and wounded James McCombs while he was picking blackberries near Turtle creek. The jury returned a vordict of not guilty of the felony, but guilty of unlawful cutting and wounding. Mr. Schwartzwelder, counsel for defense, stated that he would move for a new trial and in arrest of judgment in the case, on the ground that the trial had been conducted and concluded without the presence of Ludwig, one of the defendants.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. William Woods and Brinker McClintock, indicted for aggravated assault and battery. McClintock was placed on trial and plead not guilty. It appears that McClintock and Woods caught Morris Hunter, a boy, and one of them held him while the other cut him with a knife. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the defendant was sentenced to the work house for three months.

KEYSER'S DOG.

The next was a ferocious dog case in which Mr. Keyser was indicted for keeping an animal of the canine species of a ferocious nature, in which John Schneitzenger appeared as prosecutor. It was alleged that Keyser's dog attacked and bit the prosecutors daughter, a little girl ten years of age. It was ascertained from the evidence that Keyser did not keep the dog but that it belonged to another man. Jury out.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. James Anderson, previously reported, was submitted to the jury at eleven o'clock, but had not agreed upon a virdict when Court adjourned.

The Infant of the Period.

A few evenings since a waif of humanity was picked up on the steps of a mansion in the First ward, and thereby hangs a tale. The little charge, a blue eyed, fair haired female of some six weeks age, was taken in charge by a hospitable lady until some further disposition could be made of it. The lady tired of her charge in a few days, and yesterday it was handed over to the kind care of Alderman Humbert. This fact became noised abroad and was the occasion of an excitement in the precincts of the genial magistrate's sanctum, only excelled by the fluttering of Tuesday. Visitors to the number of one or two hundred dropped in during the day, mainly of the male persuasion and with singular unanimity were struck with the beauty of this infant of the period to such an extent that a contest sprang up between them as to who should have possession of the "somebody's darling." The contest narrowed down to the official and a well known gentleman on the South Side, each of whom declared it should be his at any cost. Aldermanic fervor finally reached an intense pitch and incited its possessor to bid twenty dollars for the child. Gentleman from the South Side was not to be beaten in this manner, and he went thirty better and thus the conflict began. Finally it was knocked down to the Alderman for the neat little sum of $150. The fortunes of the waif, however, stopped not here. Further consideration evoked the idea of again disposing of the coveted prize, and an arrangement was effected whereby a second sale will take place, the money realized from which is to be placed at interest and allowed to compound until it shall be of age, when the dowry thus secured shall be handed over to it. The time of the second sale is fixed for next Saturday evening at eight o'clock, and the place the Aldermanic sanctum on Fourth avenue. The official avers his determination to possess the prize, while the South Side gentleman and another from the First Ward are equally earnest in their declarations that until their purses are completely exhausted it shall not miss their grasp.

In Memoriam.

At a meeting of the students of Curry Institute, held September the 16th, 1869, the following was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call one of our number, Miss Ella McCleary, from the scenes of time to the realities of eternity, in the morning of life; and, whereas, our hearts prompt us to give some public and formal expression of our feelings in view of this providence, wherefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him "who doeth all things well," we cannot but be painfully affected with a sense of our loss in the removal from us of one so lovely.

Resolved, That we, the members of this School, have sustained the loss of a true friend and loved companion, whose memory will ever be cherished and revered by us all.

Resolved, That in the death of one so young, grave, thoughtful and conscientious, we recognize the hand of our Heavenly Father, transplanting a flower of early promise to the garden of eternal bliss, and that we are thereby reminded of our mortality and admonished to early make our peace with God.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved family, and fondly hope that what is their loss is her gain.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the United Presbyterian and the daily papers, and that a copy of them be given to the family of the deceased.

Grand Fall Opening of Millinery Goods at Joseph Horne & Co's., 77 and 79 Market Street.

Our readers will bear in mind that during the present week a grand opening of fall millinery goods has been made at this wholesale and retail trimming and notion house, and special opportunity is presented for wide selection and choice. All the new novelties which have appeared in the eastern markets will be found in the stock.

A CENSUS taken last spring in Iowa by the Assessors and reported to the Secretary of State, shows a population of 1,033,178. It is supposed that the population now is 1,100,000. In 1836 what is now Iowa contained but 10,000 people; in 1846 it had only 97,000; in 1856, 519,000; in 1867, 920,000; now the census of 1870 will probably show 1,200,000. In 1867 there were in the State 6,127,380 acres of land inclosed—this year 8,294,476 acres reported. In 1867 there were 155,758 dwelling houses—in the spring of this year, 175,320. In 1869 1,075,177 fruit trees in bearing—now 1,509,276. It is very probable that Iowa will be the eighth State of the Union in point of population according to the next census, being surpassed only by Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, and Missouri. The State last year cast more votes than Wisconsin or Kentucky, and nearly as many as Massachusetts. Iowa is Republican to the core, and sure to remain so.

Man Shot—The Perpetrator Lynched,

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PORTAGE CITY, WIS., Sept. 16.—Wm. H. Spain, a well known citizen, to-day shot Barney Britty, another well known citizen, who expired almost instantly. Spain was arrested, and while on the way to jail was taken from the officers by a mob of infuriated citizens, a rope put around his neck, dragged to the nearest tree and hanged. Both were members of the Nineteenth Wisconsin Regiment, where the enmity first commenced that so tragically ended to-day.

Ohio State Fair—Republican Meeting,

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

TOLEDO, September 16.—The weather to-day has been favorable, and this has been one of the most successful days in the annals of Ohio State Fairs. The attendance is believed to have been but little less than fifty thousand, and the receipts up to the present time are largely in excess of those at any similar exhibition ever given in the State. The fair closes to-morrow.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and efficient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

A DEFENSIVE MEDICINE.

"In time of peace prepare for war," is a sound military maxim. "Let not the sickly season find you unprepared," is an equally good rule in medical jurisprudence. The man must be made of iron who finds himself at the close of summer as strong as at its commencement. Such a phenomenon is rare, even among the most robust of the human family. Muscular and constitutional vigor oozes out of us in the broiling weather of July and August, and few of us, at the opening of the Fall, are in the best possible condition to defy the unhealthy influences of the season.

Fever and ague and bilious remittent fevers, together with a variety of complaints that affect the digestive organs, the liver and the bowels, form a portion of the autumn programme. Bear in mind that exhaustion invites these disorders, and that staminal vigor enables the system to repel them. "To be weak is to be miserable," says Satan to his defeated legions, in "Paradise Lost," and the axiom is correct, though it comes from an evil source.

Ho! then, ye weak and feeble, fortify yourselves against the invisible enemy that invades the Autumnal air: The best defence against miasma is a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This rare vegetable tonic will improve your appetite, stimulate your digestion, give firmness to your nerves, invigorate your muscular fibre, regulate your secretions, sheer your spirits, and put your entire physique in perfect working order. It is easily done. The standard tonic and alterative which will recuperate and build you up, is not "bad to take," but, on the contrary, a pleasant medicine.

See, however, that you have the genuine article. There are imitations and counterfeits in the market, and they are all worthless or deleterious. Bear in mind that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is sold only in glass, (never by the gallon or cask), and that each bottle bears a label surmounted by a vignette of St. George and the Dragon, and our revenue stamp over the cork.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Government bonds being offered in such large amounts again to the Secretary of the Treasury, have declined under the pressure to sell, and under anticipation of a tighter money market, new 1865s declined to 119¼, and old 1864s to 125¼. The impression prevails that the Government will increase its purchases of bonds, and will sell gold in order to force cliques to let the market take its own course. Every decline in bonds, however, brings in new purchasers, and thus the market is restored to greater activity.

Gold was steady but dull at 136¼@136¾. The cliques use every available means to frighten the mercantile community to covering their short contracts, or urge them on to buy now, and threaten to advance the quotations, but unless their schemes are supported by unfavorable news from Europe regarding the Cuban or French question, their success can only be temporary.

Stocks, which looked very bullish yesterday, have again declined to-day, and looked panicky, closing better, but unsettled.

Money is more easy, the demand being much limited, and remittances West for the moving of crops are small. Business dull, but recovering very slowly.

NEW YORK, September 16, 1869.

Mr. Boutwell had an interview with a number of financial gentlemen this afternoon at the Sub-Treasury. The only subject touched upon was that of small notes, the scarcity of which acts injuriously on the business interests of the country. The Secretary will remedy this evil as early as possible. Mr. Boutwell afterwards visited the Custom House.

The demand for money on call was met at 7 per cent., but there is an uneasy feeling in regard to the future. There was a large inquiry for time loans to-day, but the banks and money lenders hesitate about doing anything beyond call loans, owing to the approaching drain of currency to the South and West to move crops, as well as the fear of another lock-up of greenbacks. There was a heavy demand for discounts and prime names were offered on the street at 10 to 12 per cent. Sterling dull and lower at 7¾@8 per cent. Gold dull; opened at 136¾, touched 136½ and closed at 136¾. Carrying rates were 1-32 per cent. per day. The steamer Rhein took out $95,456.

Governments a trifle lower, owing to a fear that Boutwell will change his policy but closed steady: coupons '81s 121¼@121¾; do '62s 121¾@122; do '64s 121@121¾; do '65s 121@121¼; do new 119¼@119½; do '67s 119⅝@119¾; do '68s 119¼@119½; 10-40s 109¾@109¾; Pacifics 108⅞@109.

The Government sold only one-half its offered million in gold to-day at 136 13-100@136 40-100; proposals for the rest will be received to-morrow.

The Commercial says: We learn Secretary Boutwell has expressed himself as indisposed to make any change in his present policy, relative to the sales of gold or the purchase of bonds.

State bonds dull; Missouris 86½; old Tennessees 61; new do 54; old North Carolinas 53; new do 47.

The stock market is heavy and unsettled, and the decline to-day was very marked, and extended throughout the entire list.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

Business generally is moving along steadily though quietly, with every indication of a still further improvement, and every prospect of a good fall trade. It is not likely that there will be much show to speculate or that profits will be large, as there is too much competition for that, but that there will be a largely increased volume of business scarcely admits of a doubt. The crops, everywhere, have turned out well, and the yield this year is doubtless the largest in the history of this country, and when grain commences to move freely business generally improves. The demand for the leading articles in this market, is entirely local, and the operations are mainly of an unimportant character, while in regard to values there are no important changes.

The general demand for all classes of goods is more animated and prices rule steady and firm, except that little irregularity prevails on few styles of bleached muslins, such as Masonville, which has been reduced from 19 to 18c, while Maxwell goods have advanced from it to 21c. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

L. P. Dodge, the Secretary, then read the report of the Committee on boiler incrustation.

The Committee did not believe that the appliances now in use in this country for the cleaning of boilors were of any use.

The report was received and filed.

An Assessment Committee consisting of Messrs. Geo. Coolidge, of the Fitchburg Railroad, and C. Penton, of the Indiana and St. Louis Railroad, was appointed to secure funds and pay the bills of the association. The Committee tried to do its duty, but found the bills all paid. They, however, raised three hundred dollars to pay for printing the minutes.

The traction of locomotives was the subject of an interesting paper read by the Secretary. The paper was written by Mr. Sellers, of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad.

The paper was received and filed.

Mr. Sellers, of the Des Moines Valley Railroad, moved that a committee be appointed to wait upon the Commitee of Manufacturers, and express the thanks of the Association. President Britton, and Messrs. Sellers and Mulligan constitute the Committee.

The committee to select a place for the holding of the next meeting, reported through Mr. Perry, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad, that Philadelphia and Louisville had been suggested.

On motion, Philadelphia was unanimously selected as the place for the next annual meeting.

Mr. Sellers, Chairman of the Committee on the selection of subjects, reported a recommendation that the subjects selected be discussed with great thoroughness, and in the most comprehensive manner. The subjects discussed at the present meeting were continued.

Ten new subjects were submitted, and committees appointed to prepare reports on each.

The following additional committees were appointed:

FINANCE—Messrs. Sidley, Smith and Boone.

PRINTING—Messrs. Britton, Chapman and Dodge.

On reassembling, a communication from the Executive Committe of Pittsburgh manufacturers was read, relative to the arrangements for entertaining the members during their stay in the city. It stated that a steamboat would be in waiting at the Monongahela wharf at 1 o'clock P. M., to convey the members on an excursion up the river to manufactories on the Monongahela. This morning carriages will be in waiting at the Monongahela House at seven o'clock, to convey the party to the Allegheny Valley Railroad depot, there to proceed on an excursion train up the Allegheny, to visit the works in that region: at 12 M., a train will be in readiness on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, to go to the manufactories on that road.

The communication was received and filed.

The Secretary read the following:

To the Members of the Master Mechanics' Association:

GENTLEMEN: Your Committee appointed to express the sense of this Convention regarding the hospitalities extended to the Master Mechanics of America by the manufacturers of Pittsburgh, beg to submit the following:

Resolved, That while fully recognizing the attentions shown us, we at the same time express our hearty appreciation of them, and tender our thanks to the many gentlemen who have made the occasion of our present meeting so interesting and pleasant.

The vast manufacturing interests of Pittsburgh being identified with our own, it has afforded us great gratification to have visited the many manufacturing establishments of the city, and we trust this occasion may ally us more closely than heretofore, and that at no distant day we may again have the pleasure of renewing the relations so pleasantly commenced.

H. M. BRITTON,
J. MULLIGAN,
MORRIS SELLERS.

The report was received and filed and on motion, it was resolved that a copy of the report be furnished the city press for publication, also that a copy be furnished the Executive Committee.

THE BANQUET.

The manufacturers of Pittsburgh honored themselves last night, in tendering to the Association a grand complimentary banquet, at which nearly two hundred invited guests were in attendance, representing all the leading interests of the city. The arrangements were confided to a committee headed by Messrs. George G. McMurtery and Syl. A. Cosgrave who labored zealously to have the occasion prove the success it did, and to their individual exertions, aided by the co-operation of Mr. Crossan, the accomplished host of the Monongahela House, is due the honor of holding one of the most pleasant and agreeable banquets that has ever marked the history of our city. No expense was spared to render the affair worthy the guests and the liberality of our leading iron and steel manufacturers, and none of those fortunate enough to have been in attendance will marvel when we assert that nearly three thousand dollars were expended to ensure the enjoyment of the honored gentlemen in attendance. The elegant and commodious dining room of the Monongahela House was specially adorned for the occasion with national emblems, mottoes of welcome and rich floral ornamentations. The tables were spread the full length and width of the room, forming a complete square, and were spread with that good taste which makes the Monongahela House so conspicuous for elegance and neatness. Prof. Teorge's excellent orchestral brass and string band was in attendance, and faithfully, during the evening, discoursed operatic gems in a style which drew forth frequent bursts of applause from the enraptured audience. As a matter of curiosity for our good housewives, and in order to make the mouths of our epicurean friends water, we herewith publish the bill of fare, not forgetting to include the wine list, prefacing the publication, however, with the remark that the greatest abundance prevailed, and that full justice was done to the substantial food, the sparkling wines and the heavier liquids, which lived not in the bill but had existence on the table. And let us say more, although the rich and costly wines flowed like water, we failed to note a single case where its work was left, every man seeming to appreciate the importance of the occasion by respectfully keeping his judgment unclouded and his brain clear and cool:

THE PRESIDENT'S WELCOME.

GENTLEMEN: I regret that the honor of presiding at this banquet had not been conferred upon some gentleman, who is more able and more competent to address you. To be snatched up in so summary a manner, and without notice would tax the abilities of Gen. Grant himself, to properly respond to this very complimentary position, given to me by my fellow citizens; nevertheless, gentlemen, I am not unconscious of the high honor, and thank you for it. This is no ordinary occasion. We have assembled here to welcome the "Railroad Master Mechanics of the United States," and I would now say in behalf of over two hundred and fifty thousand toiling citizens, we bid you welcome; and gentlemen, we are not unmindful of the fact that our guests are composed of, and represent some of the great master minds of this Continent, and those who have contributed largely to the promotion of this great and growing manufacturing city.

Our city has within a few days had the honor of entertaining the President of the United States. We now have the honor of entertaining the representatives of over forty thousand miles of railway, from the East and the West, the North and the South, which have cost the investors one thousand eight hundred and fifty millions of dollars, and created a commerce worth ten thousand millions of dollars annually; they are, to a very great extent, the artizans and architects of our Nation's greatness, and let me here say our present system, in magnitude and extent, is merely in its infancy. We have now one pathway from sea to sea; in a few more years several inter-oceanic highways will be completed, every portion of our wide domain must and will be permeated, thereby rapidly augmenting our national wealth, and consequently decreasing our present indebtedness, as well as taxation. Let us educate our sons to become artizans, meet the growing wants of the country and the honored representatives of George Stephenson, and always be mindful of our duty to appreciate the goodness of Him who governs nations, kingdoms and powers.

I will not detain you with a lengthy address, as you will be entertained by speeches from some of our eminent citizens more capable, but will again say welcome, welcome, thrice welcome to this manufacturing metropolis.

THE SENTIMENTS.

The President now announced the following as the first regular sentiment of the evening:

1—The President of these United States.

This was received with the wildest applause which continued for several minutes. Had Grant been present, he must have felt proud of the honor paid him by the representatives of so many States of the Union.

This sentiment of honor to the Chief Magistrate of our Commonwealth elicited a hearty round of applause, and evinced that while the meeting was by no means political in its character, the gallant Governor had hosts of friends in attendance to greet his name with a burst of enthusiasm.

3—The Memory of Washington!

The audience instinctively arose at mention of the great name and in silence, standing, drank to the memory of the father of his country.

4—Our Guests—The railroad master mechanics of the United States. We bid them a hearty and cordial welcome to the Iron City. Distinguished as they are as citizens, we regard their visit as an honor to this great workshop of the West, and trust their deliberations have been such as to advance the rapidly growing interests of the great highways of internal traffic.

MR. MEIER'S REMARKS.

In responding to this toast, you will excuse a feeling of diffidence in me, arising alike from the high appreciation I have of the honor of being called to speak the sentiments of so many of my seniors in years and experience in the noble calling to which we all belong, as well as from the fact that it is utterly impossible at this time and place to do half justice to the labor of our generous hosts, of whose well merited success we have had a glimpse, and indeed a glimpse only. Well do you call your noble town Iron City. It has outgrown the borrowed name of the American Birmingham or Sheffield. [cheers and cries of hear! hear!] Pittsburgh is as well known as those older centres of iron industry, as far as the clanging hammers and rattling cars carry the new gospel of the mechanical arts.

Our deliberations, from which you hope so much good for the future, have shown the growing importance, yea necesssity, of steel in many parts, and taking time by the forelock, you are ready to meet the demand. You are pushing so hard in the tracks of the older adepts in this branch of manufacture that your name shall in the future be the Steel City. None of us doubt that you have the requisite two per cent. of carbon to spare.

With the large-hearted generosity which belongs to those who excel by constant effort, you have caused us in a body to visit some of the many works of the city of which not you alone but the whole country may well feel proud. We have seen the rude ores, as torn from the bowels of the earth, pass through crushing blows, forced, torn, coaxed and persuaded to take just such form and shape as shall be useful to us.

We have seen that we have but to establish what is wanted and Pittsburgh will furnish it. [Applause.] As the West and South come here for the sharp blades to cut their bounteous harvests, the North and East here obtain the iron webs to span their rock girt rivers, and may yet hear the hub call on you for we its tire. [Applause.] Everything we may want to build a locomotive, from a steel boiler ptate to the last brass riyet which buttons its jacket. Pittsburgh will furnish us of the best quality and at a price to gladden the hearts of economical directors at home. [Applause.]

Nor does that tax a tithe of her wonderful resources. As we cannot exist without her, she, patriotic and industrious, is a pillar to the Republic whether assailed from without, or rent by internal feuds.

Here were cast those monstrous guns whose huge balls proved the futility of wooden walls for defence, her workshops rolled out the massive plates that made our own ships invulnerable, and furnished the only bolts capable of piercing them. Her manufacturers,—hardly can we call them so, having witnessed how little is done here by hand at all, their brains working day and night in all that wonderful machinery—her manufacturers have won us by their openheartedness and cordiality, and established feelings of friendship, which, we trust may prove as lasting as her fame. And so it should be, for we are co-workers in the same great cause, working in different branches only. They make the materials, we shape and arrange them, give them the life-giving steam, till from the bleak coasts of Nova Scotia to the sunny slopes of the Pacific, the loud, joyous shriek of the locomotive proclaims the fame of the manufacturers of Pittsburgh.—[Enthusiastic cheers.]

A WORTHY TRIBUTE.

5.—The Manufacturers of Pittsburgh.

Response by Mr. R. Biddle Roberts:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN: I am deeply sensible of the very high honor that has been shown me in the invitation received from the manufacturers of the city of Pittsburgh to respond to the toasts so kindly given by our eloquent guest, who has just taken his seat, but I am equally sensible of the honor which this company has done me by the kind manner in which they have received me.

I also feel aware of the fact that no poor words of mine can contribute to the pleasure of the guests. We have this right, the honor to entertain, and that the manufacturers of Pittsburgh feel proud in having the opportunity to honor the railroad master mechanics of the United States. [Applause.]

We feel that in our city's history we can regard as a bright epoch the banquet that has been held, and we feel no ordinary gratification in meeting together and hear the complimentary terms in which the representative of the Association have been pleased to speak of our city. I beg to say to the Master Mechanic that when he speaks of the Pittsburgh manufactories, (and I hope they will forgive me for saying so), they are a very modest set of gentlemen, and that is the reason they have selected me to speak for them!—I believe the manufacturers of Pittsburgh have long been noted for their modesty. They have never been as apt at advertising as the city of New York. They have never pictured their advertisements with beautiful photographs, as the city of Philadelphia has, and they have never gone as far as the city of Chicago, because they have never had so many divorce cases.

Much as I admire everything connected with the city of Chicago, I do say, as you know, we have not its divorce cases, and that is what I object to.

Mr. President: I see that this meeting does not wish a long speech. In fact, I think if there is anything that would clear this room it would be the announcement that any gentleman was going to speak for an hour and a half. I will therefore conclude by congratulating the manufacturers, that this movement has been inaugurated and that these gentlemen should have the opportunity of inspecting the articles manufactured in our grand and growing branch of trade.

With both heads to think and hearts to feel."

They are the men who have placed on this mighty empire a web of railways.

Hereafter it will be the style for Fourth of July orators of the British Lion, making him roar by pinching his tail, and speaking of the three thousand miles of railway and their sails whitening every sea, saying what can equal that, every Englishman will answer "ear," ear-[Applause and Laughter] then calling for his glass of 'alf and alf,' and something to eat point to the forty thousand miles of railway of internal commerce of America as exceeding the entire commerce of that country, by land and sea.

While I would not presume to introduce on this occasion any topic of a political character, still I think that I can say on behalf of Pittsburgh that we are high tariff men, and that the men who make their mighty cobweb of railway can wield a power more potential in regard to a tariff than Congress itself.

My honored friend, who preceded me, said that the "Hub might in the future look to Pittsburgh for the tire." I pray God that the day may come when the "Hub" will look to Pittsburgh for the tariff.

While I know that upon this question there may be a difference of opinion, I say to you Master Mechanics, by your discrimination, and by the work you produce, you may be able to accomplish more than the ablest statesman can, and not do it by the specific but by the ad valorem system.

I thank you for the kindness with which you have listened to me, and hope that the master mechanics will carry to their homes happy recollections of the times they have spent in Pittsburgh. (Applause.)

AVOICE EROM IOWA.

6—The American Locomotive.

In response to this sentiment, Mr. Morris Sellers of the Des Moines Railroad, said:

GENTLEMEN: In responding to the toast offered you—the American Locomotive—I feel incapable of offering any expression worthy of the theme. The American locomotive, through the intelligence and instrumentality of the mechanics of this country, in points of architectural beauty, economical operation, and efficiency, stands to-day second to none. We, as Americans, can look with pride upon the handiwork of our mechanics and defy comparisons, runinng as they are upon superstructures far inferior to those of other countries, and far more destructive to machinery. we show an amount of service unsurpassed.

Many, or I may say all the gentlemen here present, can look back, (it is only a few years since,) and compare the locomotive of that day to the engine of this, and in that comparison what a marked improvement do we see; in no other branch of mechanical arts has the progress towards perfection been greater than in the American locomotive.

This, gentlemen, is due greatly to yourselves and to the efforts you have made and are now making to perfect yourselves in your profession. And greatly, gentlemen, is it due to manufacturers of this city, for to them are we indebted for many improvements in the material of which our engines are constructed; to the enterprise and persistent labors, aided by the expenditure of immense sums of money, are we indebted to the manufacturers of Pittsburgh for a material unsurpassed for the construction of our boilers and fire boxes.

To the locomotive builder of this country are we greatly indebted for improvement in the American locomotive. Nor did any improvement offer itself to them but they endeavored to realize and adopt it, thereby perfecting their work.

To the locomotive are we all indebted for the rapid growth and fast accumulating wealth of our country. Without it our rich prairies, our immense coal measure and mineral wealth would be to day as nature left it, unimproved, undeveloped and useless.

To the master mechanics here assembled I would say, you have a great work before you. May you be equal to the task, and may you, through the instrumentality and objects of our Association, that of mutual interchange of ideas and experiences and though not wreathing individual laurels, we may bring honor upon the age in which we have lived, moved and worked.

SPEECH OF J. H. HOPKINS, ESQ.

7—The Pacific Railroads.

J. H. Hopkins, Esq., of the Allegheny county, bar made the following response to the sentiment:

Mr. President: The sentiment to which I am called upon to respond is suggestive not only of the recent grand achievements of science, but of the vast, illimitable resources of this mighty nation and of its future power and glory. In all the volumes of history there is no record so far reaching and manifold in its benificial influences so successfully and speedily accomplished. The giant pyramids of Egypt may excite our wonder, the gorgeous cathedrals of Europe may elicit our admiration, but the Pacific Railroad awakens not only amazement and delight, but pride, patriotism and ambition. It is a monument more enduring and serving a nobler purpose than all the pyramids. It is a pulpit from which the lesson of christian civilization may be learned by the most unlimited auditory. [Applause.]

Its effect upon our national prosperity cannot be estimated. The inexhaustible wealth of our mines, the vast yet undeveloped agricultural resources and the immense commercial and manufacturing interests which are fast following the completion of this road, give but a foretaste of the not far distant scene. The recent undisturbed ranges of the antelope and buffalo, are dotted over with infant colonies; upon the late hunting grounds of the Indian the scream of the steam whistle and the rumble of machinery are heard, and soon from some of the towering peaks of gold ribbed Rocky Mountains may be witnessed a scene surpassing in grandure, wealth, prosperity and promise, that which met the rapt gaze of Moses as he stood entranced upon the summit of Pisgah. (Prolonged applause.)

But a few weeks have elapsed since a fair hand, all glittering with a golden bracelet, was stretched out over the Sierra Navada's and placed confidingly in a strong iron grasp, and the very lightnings of Heaven, as they flashed along a thousand wires, rang out the joyful marriage bells of the Atlantic and Pacific in every town and village in the land.

As the happy offspring of this auspicious union we may soon expect a whole brood of Pacific railroads. Already two or three roads are in process of construction, and a distinguished citizen of Pittsburgh has just returned from surveying the route of the Northern Pacific, and Pennsylvania capital is pledged to its completion. (Enthusiastic Applause.)

As citizens, proud of our country's glory and solicitous for our nation's prosperity, we should rll aejoice in the construction of these public improvements. For

"These iron bonds,
The proxies of men clasping hands,
Which bind together distant lands,"

are ligaments more potent to preserve our Union than all the devices of Legislators and Statesman.

Just now the crowned heads of Europe are making eager preparations to celebrate the opening of the Suez Canal, which connects the two oceans, almost, on the other side of the world. Royalty is preparing to do homage to Science. Then let us honor our master mechanics. It is right and proper to honor those who project, those who build, those who furnish and equip, and those who manage and run our great railroads. This is especially proper in this city, this vast workshop from whose magical chimneys the smoke curls up as grateful incense from the altars of Trade. [Applause.]

Mr. President, with your permission and that of the committee of arrangements, I beg leave to offer a sentiment suggested by the, sentiment to which I have been invited to responnd. I give you

[Cheers.]

MR. W. MILNOR ROBERTS HEARD FROM.

The latter volunteer toast drew out Mr. Milnor Roberts who was enthusiastically received. He said that he had just returned from the survey of the North Pacific Railway, but he would not make a speech about that route as it would necessarily be too long—nearly two thousand miles (laughter and applause). He would say, however, that the route was a good one and entirely practicable. He was pleased and delighted to meet at the social board so many as fifty of the leading and representative Master Mechanics of the various railroads of the country. More especially was this occasion a pleasure to him since he remembered when the first railway of nine miles was laid in this country from Mauch Chunk to the coal mines in 1827. In 1850 he built a road himself, and had watched railway expansion and development from its earliest infancy. He had never been a Master Mechanic, but his profession had enabled him to see much of them, to know their duties and responsibilities, and he was very free to say that he honored their profession among the first of all others. The gentleman paid a high tribute to the guests and concluded amidst a storm of applause.

H. M. Britton, Esq., was next loudly called for, and he made a very neat and happy speech, in which he paid honor to our goodly city of smoke, and in no stinted way complimented our manufacturers for their industry, fair-dealing and enterprise.

Mr. French, of the Pittsburgh Steel Spring Company, was next called out and made a brief and pertinent address, containing many decided hits, which brought forth laughter and applause.

Mr. L. P. Dodge, Secretary of the Association, was forced out of his retiracy at the upper end of the table and made to respond to a sentiment complimentary to himself. He was particularly happy in his remarks and was roundly cheered and applauded by the audience, with whom he appeared to be an especial favorite.

8—George Stephenson, the Greatest Master Mechanic.

Thie was responded to by Hon. J. A. Brooks, of Ohio, who paid a noble tribute to the founder of the railway system of Great Britain and perfecter of the locomotive engine. He traced the life of his subject through the depths of poverty and abashing circumstances, till surmounting all obstacles, through pure genius he arose to distinction, eminence and wealth.

WELCOME FROM THE PRESS.

9—The Press.

This was responded to on behalf of the city Press by Mr. T. P. Houston, of the GAZETTE, who said: I do not know why I should have been selected to respond to the sentiment proposed in honor of the profession I represent, except, indeed, it may be to pay tribute to my venerable antiquity. However, it is but right and proper that I should in behalf of my co-laborers,—all manufacturers—of public opinion I mean, extend a warm word of welcome to our distinguished guests, the representatives of the leading railways of our continent. The city press is glad to give them welcome, glad to accord the iron grasp of good fellowship, the steel grip of good will. One and all, Democratic and Republican, morning and evening, daily and weekly, our journals are with our guests in heart and spirit recognizing their own interests, the interests of our great and growing city, of our proud old Commonwealth, our expanding nation, as identical with those of the sturdy men who contribute so much of their lives towards the building of railways and the pushing forward of the locomotive of progress, empeopling our lands and spreading abroad into all corners of the country the banners of religion and enlightenment. Again, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I welcome our guests in behalf of the city press of Pittsburgh.

Mr. James Park, Jr., made an address complimentary to the guests and announced that he had received a grave and important dispatch, which he would offer as a sentiment, although much care must be taken in the selection of a suitable person to respond. The dispatch, he said, was from a gentleman who was called from the meeting home, and it certainly was suggestive of an increase to the population of Altoona and of the country at large. He would read it:

ALTOONA, September 15th, 1869.

A. J. CASSATT.

The dispatch burst like a frolicksome meteor of humor on the audience, and amidst loud laughter and cheering several childless gentlemen were called upon for a response, but none came.

Letters of regret were read by Mr. Secretary Scott from President Grant, Gov. Geary and other distinguished gentlemen, who could not make it suit to be in attendance.

10—The Ladies—God bless them!

This was drank in silence, a wag suggesting that if anybody felt willing to assume the task of replying let him put in an appearance, but none were found willing to attempt to do justce to the subject.

President Harbaugh now announced that the exercises would conclude with the singing in concert of "Auld Lang Syne." Seldom have we heard more voices or better voices join in the rendition of this expressive and time honored hymn of remembrance, and as its last notes died away the meeting adjourned.

The banquet was one of the very best arranged and managed affairs of the character we have ever attended, and reflected much credit on all concerned, and especially to Col. J. McD. Crossan, the succesful caterer of the occasion. To-day the Master Mechanics will visit the principal steel works of the city and other points of interest, accompanied by an escort of manufacturers.
